This Is The Way It Was

May 2015 Museum Report

By Ken Murdock, Museum Curator

This monthly photo column by Ken Murdock features railroad scenes of the past, a look back into railroading's history.

Our founding organization made at least two visits, once in 1976 and again in 1977, to San Antonio, Florida to ride the Trilby, San Antonio & Cypress Railroad which operated over a small segment of the original Orange Belt RR. This trip was diesel powered with a single heavy weight Pullman car. - E. S. Green photo

The TSA&C, also known as the Orange Belt Route, operated this beautiful 2-8-0 and several GE 44 ton side rod locomotives. The ride was thru a very hilly, rural, undeveloped part of the state. Unfortunately, the operation lasted only a couple of years. - E. S. Green photo

This scene finds our much younger Clayton Bishop flagging for the crossing. The round trip from San Antonio, east to Blanton, was approximately 5 miles. Trilby was an additional 5 miles to the east. The line encountered a fairly steep grade which taxed the small locomotives to their limits with the heavy weight passenger cars. - E. S. Green photo

Al Sharp and I have continued our Wednesday inventory workdays throughout the month. I really want to thank Al for sticking with me steadily for the past 3 ½ years. Together, with a little help from several others, we have inventoried all of our displayed collection. We are now concentrating on new donations, items in storage and the items at Lakeville Elementary School.

Clem Kruse has continued organizing of our enormous collection of menus and timetables. Clem has been arranging them in expandable binders so that they can be easily viewed while sitting comfortably at a table. He is doing a great job with them! Clem also regularly donates supplies that he purchases to do this job. Thank you Clem for the great job that you are doing!!

Jerry Honetor continued with the seemingly, never ending, library inventory. He is putting the recently donated books, 31 boxes of them, into the inventory system and putting them on the library shelves. He is making space for them by removing and boxing duplicate copies. Ginger continued with housekeeping chores on Wednesday mornings and hosted in the afternoons. Jarrod Reynolds also made it out to help on inventory the last Wednesday of the month.

David Rhea and William Walter took on the job of restoring a ground-throw, tall switch stand and a Hayes derail stand (see photos herein) that were donated several months ago by Tom Langford. The switch stand originally belonged to the late Dick Dewitt who once owned Dewitt's Model Train Shop. Dick was an avid Pennsy fan, so this unusual switch stand is thought to have come from the PRR. David took the parts to William's place where William did a magnificent job of restoration. They are now tackling the restoration of two of our highway crossing signals donated several months ago by Randall Thornton. Our caboose yard is getting full!! I built the concrete form work at home, complete with anchor bolts, so that we can pour the foundations for the signals. Clarence Calloway has been coming by after work and spiking our growing collection of items to cross ties.

I talked with Susan Skolfield, director of the Winter Park Museum, recently. She had called asking to extend their railroad display, which uses many of our loaned items, until next April. I approved the extension because it has been good advertising for our museum. They continually promote our museum to their visitors. Susan told me that this display has generated substantially more interest than any display that they have had in the past, generating more than 9000 visitors since it opened on May 8th of last year.

On Saturday, May 30, we had our monthly museum workday with 9 members participating who included Phil Cross, Jarrod Reynolds, Clem Kruse, Jerry and Ginger Honetor, Al Sharp, Allen Quinn, Irv Lipscomb and your curator. We tackled a variety of projects which included the normal housekeeping chores of vacuuming, mopping and cleaning the rest room. Other projects included running a Cat5 cable under the building from the router to the server, cleaning out the Agent's Office and desk, re-securing of a glass top on a showcase, installing more LEDs in two showcases, re-keying the deadbolt for the exterior door in the T&G Room, pressure cleaning the sidewalks and cleaning displayed items and glass shelves in the showcases. Jerry Honetor continued his work in the library and Clem Kruse continued his work of organizing timetables. After lunch several of us worked on our computers, writing thank you letters, working on inventory and items for the Flat Wheel. We had a very productive day and I want to thank all who came out and helped make it a success.
