This Is The Way It Was

This monthly photo column by Ken Murdock features railroad scenes of the past, a look back into railroading's history.

This was the Seaboard Air Line's depot in the center downtown Dade City, circa 1920. The wood frame structure was built following the standard plan for many of Seaboard's small towns, and was very similar to the one that remains in Apopka today. Irv Lipscomb photo found on Facebook

This photo shows Seaboard's replacement depot in Dade City, built in the 1930s. The Mediterranean stucco structure followed the architectural style of many of their replacement depot and new depots built on their extensions to the east and west coasts of Florida. After the SCL merger, the ACL line was used and the SAL line was removed and the depot was demolished for a parking lot. Society files

This is an early photo of the Atlantic Coast Line's depot in Dade City that continued to serve the SCL and Amtrak after the SAL's depot was demolished. The ACL main line was to the east of downtown and had fewer grade crossings to deal with. Amtrak discontinued service on the S line in 2004, leaving the depot as only a storage area for the signal maintainer. Alvin Lederer's Facebook collection

May 2016 Museum Report

By Ken Murdock, Museum Curator

On Wednesday, April 28th, while working at the museum, we had two unexpected visitors whom we were very delighted to see. They were Al Pfeiffer and William (Bill) Cogswell. Al and his wife, now of Mena, Arkansas, were in Florida visiting friends. Al left his wife on the west coast with friends and he drove to DeLand to visit Bill and Mary and brought Bill over to visit the museum. Al had also gone over to New Smyrna to visit John Richeson's widow and brought back three boxes of John's railroad books that she wanted to donate to the museum. We had a most enjoyable visit and Al had to show us photos of his train chasing in Western Arkansas.

Al is involved with a railroad museum in Mena which is located on the Kansas City Southern main line in one of their former depots. Al is also involved with the KCS Historical Society and is working on a committee to host the society's annual meeting in Mena this year. Al, after much resistance as some of you may remember, has finally gone digital. Believe it or not, he has already worn out his first Canon single lens reflex digital camera with over 50,000 photos taken. He already has almost half that number of photos taken on his second SLR camera.

We had a number of very nice donations during this month. One was from Mary Hartman of Oviedo who donated her late husband's toy train collection which included a very, very large collection of prewar Marx, American Flyer and Lionel items plus a few very nice railroad memorabilia items. Another donation was from Patricia Perkins of Gainesville who donated her late husband's (Dick) items which included numerous books, handbooks and manuals on steam and diesel locomotives, several railroad memorabilia items and three railroad radios.

Frank Brubaker called several months ago and told me that he had a VHS tape of Dick Perkins' steam engine that he wanted to donate to the society. The video is of a group of guys, many from our group, operating Dick Perkins' steam engine in Oviedo in 1985. Frank's wife Evelyn, brought the cassette to Orlando recently on one of her trips to see family, and brought it by my place. The video, nearly an hour long, was made by the late Don Toler, brother of retired Amtrak engineer Jerry Toler, who some of you know. I have since contacted Neil Aly, a former member and past president, and he has agreed to edit the video and convert it to a DVD. This will make a great future program.

The last donation came by way of Irv Lipscomb. While he was hosting a lady came by and donated a sizable collection of railroad VHS cassettes and DVDs. We have reached the point where we don't have space to continue accepting VHS cassettes and I recommend that we only accept DVDs in the future. I need someone who would be willing to organize the ones that we have and cull out the duplicates to sell in the gift shop. Any volunteers?

Wednesday workdays have continued during most weeks throughout the month with Jerry and Ginger Honetor, Al Sharp, Jarrod Reynolds, Irv Lipscomb and me participating. We have spent much of our time sorting through the donations to see what should be kept for the museum or library and what should be sold in the gift shop or on eBay. Irv has been organizing and inventorying the flat files. These files are more than half full, mainly with large format items that we have had on hand for years with no permanent place to file them. Ross Marvin usually comes by on Wednesdays to gather more items for eBay and photograph them.

May 2016 Museum Report

Our monthly museum workday was held on Saturday, May 21st and members participating included Phil Cross, Al Sharp, Jerry and Ginger Honetor, Allen Quinn, Jarrod Reynolds, Phil Piet, Roger Wilson, Joe Lehmann and your curator. Phil Cross & Ginger took care of the housekeeping chores and Phil cleaned up around the outside.

Several of us poured the last concrete foundation for the RR crossing signals. We will now be able to display all of the crossing signals that have been stored on the ground by the caboose. Afterwards we retreated to the cool museum to work on the Flat Wheel or recently donated items, inventorying some that will be added to our displays and getting others ready to sell on eBay.

Allen Quinn installed a new paper towel dispenser in the restroom that was acquired by Jerry Honetor. Check it out. It really works great! Roger Wilson loaded his car trunk with a number of boxes of New England related slides and other data. Roger is taking them to a museum in that area that will have more interest in them than we do. This freed up a lot of leg room under the desk in the New Office, making it usable once again. Thanks Roger!

We had a very good month and many things were accomplished to improve our museum. Thank you to each of you who pitched in and helped with this effort.

Society Member Ginger Honetor is employed by the Winter Garden Heritage Foundation as the host on Wednesdays at the Central Florida Railroad Museum. Ginger also volunteers many hours each month helping to maintain the Museum's collection and keep the building in top notch shape. Thanks Ginger for all that you do!!!
